

Demosthenes Panagiotakos is Professor in Biostatistics, Research Methods in Nutrition and Epidemiology. Since 2016 is the vice Rector of Financial Affairs, Research and Development of the Harokopio University in Athens. During 2013-2016 he was the Dean of the School of Health Science & Education at Harokopio University in Athens, Greece. Dr Panagiotakos is also visiting Distinguished Professor at School of Arts and Sciences, Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, US, visiting Professor at the School of Medicine, University of Athens and at the Agricultural University of Athens. He has supervised 14 PhD and over 60 MSc theses. He is the Principal Investigator of 7 large-scale epidemiological studies (2,5M). His research interests include CVD epidemiology, risk modelling and analysis, medical research methodology, meta-analysis, as well as nutritional epidemiology and methodology. He has published 3 books, over 600 scientific papers in peer-reviewed international journals, as well as 50 papers in national journals and Conference proceedings and has more than 17.500 citations of his work (h-index of 57). He has received 3 Young Investigators' National and International Awards and 3 Scholarships (2 National, 1 EU) and many Awards from various Scientific Societies. He has served as an evaluator for 17 National and International Organizations, reviewer in 61 international journals, as well as external evaluator for several faculty positions; he is an Executive Board member in 3 Scientific Societies. He is Editorial Board member / Associate Editor in 17 international journals. He has invited to give more than 220 lectures in 16 countries around the world.

Prof Panagiotakos is currently Member of the Scientific Committee of Health, Environment and Emerging Risks of the European Committee (2016-2021). He is a Board Member of the National Nutrition Policy Committee, and has served as Board Member of the Scientific Council of the Hellenic Food Authority and as Board Member of the National Council of Public Health.